

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Richard Alderson III (see Maxwell and Alderson)
Gail R. Benjamin: Phonetic correlates of the functions of language in natural conversations	1
Peter C. Bjarckman: Theoretically relevant issues in Cuban Spanish phonology	13
Eyamba G. Bokamba and Mallafé Dramé: Where do relative clauses come from in Mandingo?	28
Anthony Bruck: Strict subcategorization in Chomsky, in de Saussure, and in practice	44
Louise J. Cherry (see Hiebert and Cherry)
Mary M. Clark: On the alternation between isolation and combination tones in Chaochow	55
Bill J. Darden: Local ordering versus multiple application of phonological rules	65
Mallafé Dramé (see Bokamba and Drame)
Leonard M. Faltz: On indirect objects in universal syntax	76
Donka Farkas: Direct and indirect object reduplication in Romanian	88
Robert A. Fox: Individual perceptual variation and a perception/production link in vowels	98
Victor A. Friedman: On the semantic and morphological influence of Turkish on Balkan Slavic	108
Lyn R. Haber and Celia Maloney: Linguistic development in mentally retarded children	119
Maya Hickmann and James V. Wertsch: Adult-child discourse in problem solving situations	133
Araceli C. Hidalgo: The connection between antecedent and consequent in counterfactuals and indicative conditionals	145
Elfrieda H. Hiebert and Louise J. Cherry: Language play in young children's interactions with three co-participants	156
Kyoko Inoue: How many senses does the English present perfect have?	167
Janice Jake: Why Dyirbal isn't ergative at all	179
Ellen Kaisse: On the stability of opaque rule orderings	193
M. H. Klaiman: Arguments against a passive origin of the IA ergative	204
W. G. Klooster: Much in Dutch	217
Nancy S. Levin: Some identity-of-sense deletions puzzle me. Do they you?	229
Julie B. Lovins: "Nasal reduction" in English syllable codas	241
Celia Maloney (see Haber and Maloney)
Alexis Manaster-Ramer: The position of the verb in Dutch and German	254
On dominance	264
Judith M. Maxwell and Richard Alderson III: A syllable by any other structure would last as long	265

Noriko Akatsuka McCawley: Epistemology and Japanese syntax: complementizer choice	272
Naomi H. McGloin and Hiroko Terakura: On the assertive predicate NO DESU in Japanese	285
A. Nakhimovsky: Organizations and documents in Russian syntax	297
Anneke Neijt: Constraints on gapping	307
Frederick J. Newmeyer: The self-defeating autonomy thesis	316
Johanna Nichols: Double dependency?	326
Choon-Kyu Oh: Tense and aspect in Korean	340
David Pesetsky: Category switching and so-called so-called pronouns	350
Laura A. Petitto (see Seidenberg and Petitto)
Ellen F. Prince: On the function of existential presupposition in discourse	362
Gilbert Puech: A cross-dialectal study of vowel harmony in Maltese	377
Jane E. Remler: Some repairs on the notion of repairs in the interest of relevance	391
James S. Roberts: Do we need the cycle? Evidence from French causatives	403
Claudia Ross: The rightmost principle of sentence negation	416
Mark S. Seidenberg and Laura A. Petitto: What do signing chimpanzees have to say to linguists?	430
Anjani Kumar Sinha: Another look at the universal characterization of the passive voice	445
Tim Stowell: What was there before there was there	458
Gregory T. Stump: Interpretive gapping in Montague grammar	472
Hiroko Terakura (see McGloin and Terakura)
James V. Wertsch (see Hickmann and Wertsch)
Ellen Woolford: Free relatives and other base generated WH constructions	482
Nancy M. Yanofsky: NP utterances	491
Arnold M. Zwicky: Arguing for constituents	503