

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Emmon Bach and Barbara H. Partee: Anaphora and semantic structure	1
Discussion by David R. Dowty: Comments on the paper by Bach and Partee	29
Elizabeth Bates, Walter Kintsch, Charles R. Fletcher, and Vittoria Giuliani: Recognition memory for surface forms in dialogue: Explicit vs. anaphoric reference	41
Gerald P. Berent: A maximally restrictive rule of coreference	49
Peter Bosch: The modes of pronominal reference and their constraints	64
Héctor-Neri Castañeda: The basic logical form of perception sentences	79
Discussion by William G. Lycan: Castañeda on the logical form of perception sentences	87
Reply by the author: The deep quasi-indicator in perception sentences (Rejoinder to William Lycan)	94
Robert Channon: Anaphoric that : A friend in need	98
J Ronayne Cowan: The significance of parallel function in the assignment of intrasentential anaphora	110
Charles R. Fletcher (see Bates, Kintsch, Fletcher, and Giuliani)
Sylvia Joseph Galambos: A clarification of the notion of topic: Evidence from popular spoken French	125
Vittoria Giuliani (see Bates, Kintsch, Fletcher, and Giuliani)
Jeanette K. Gundel: Zero NP-anaphora in Russian: A case of topic-prominence	139
Eric P. Hamp: Unrecognized deixis in Indo-European pronouns	147
Jeffrey Heath: Nunggubuyu deixis, anaphora, and culture	151
Lars Hellan: On anaphora in Norwegian	166
Julia Herschensohn: Governed and ungoverned null anaphora in French	183
Maya Hickmann: Creating referents in discourse: A developmental analysis of linguistic cohesion	192
William H. Jacobsen, Jr.: Inclusive/exclusive: A diffused pronominal category in native western North America	204
Discussion by Eric P. Hamp: Discussion on inclusive/exclusive	228

Annette Karmiloff-Smith: Psychological processes underlying pronominalization and non-pronominalization in children's connected discourse	231
Kostas Kazazis: On Modern Greek ποι- 'who?'	251
Walter Kintsch (see Bates, Kintsch, Fletcher, and Giuliani)
William Marslen-Wilson and Lorraine K. Tyler: Towards a psychological basis for a theory of anaphora	258
Barbara H. Partee (see Bach and Partee)
Lorraine K. Tyler (see Marslen-Wilson and Tyler)
David Zager: The protean changes of pronoun markers on Eskimo verbs	287