

Table of Contents

Negation and Polarity Items

JOANNA BLASZCZAK	3
What do bagels and Polish kolwiek-pronouns have in common?
ANDJELKA GINA BULATOVIC	19
Looking for Any: Serbo-Croatian Bilo, Bulgarian Kakvoto ida e and the Nonveridicality Hypothesis
ANASTASIA GIANNAKIDOU	29
Licensing and sensitivity in polarity items: from downward entailment to (non)veridicality
LAURENCE R. HORN	55
Assertoric inertia and NPI licensing
YOUNGJUN JANG & YUNG-HYE KWON	83
Indefinite nouns plus two types of conjoiners
TOSHIKO ODA	97
Exclamatives and negative islands
HOTZE RULLMANN	111
A note on the history of either
ADAM WERLE	127
A typology of negative indefinites
HEDDE H. ZEIJLSTRA	143
What the Dutch Jespersen Cycle may reveal about Negative Concord
Sub-symbolic Approaches to Language
RUTVIK DESAI	159
Item-based language learning in children and connectionist networks
JEFFERY L. ELMAN	175
Generalization from sparse input
STEFAN TH. GRIES	201
Some characteristics of English morphological blends

DAISUKE HARA	217
A complexity-based approach to syllable formation in American Sign Language
JESSE HARRIS & TERRY REGIER	235
The associative origin of words
BRIAN MACWHINNEY	247
The emergence of language from body, brain, and society
UTA PRISS	273
A classification of associative and formal concepts
AYŞE PINAR SAYGIN & STEPHEN WILSON	285
Paradigm reanalysis and the representation of morphologically complex words in Turkish
RAJENDRA SINGH & SYLVAIN NEUVEL	299
When the whole is smaller than the sum of its parts: The case of morphology
 Indigenous Languages of Latin America: Standardization and Multilingualism
RUSTY BARRETT	309
The Hueuetenango Sprachbund and Mayan language standardization in Guatemala
J. C. BROWN	319
Licensing and glottalization in Mixtec
JINSOOK CHOI	327
"People from the mountain have acento indígena (Indian accent)": Double-bound Mayan identities and the dilemma of Mayan linguistic purism in Guatemala
JAN TERJE FAARLUND	341
Clitics and morphological categories in Zoque
JOHN HAVILAND	349
Evidential mastery

PAUL KOCKELMAN

369

*Factive and counterfactive clitics in Q'eqchi'-Maya:
Stance, status, and subjectivity*

JOHANNA MATTISSEN

385

The missing link between different types of polysynthetic languages